The Joint Center for Political and Economic Studies contributes to the national interest by helping black Americans participate fully and effectively in the political and economic life of our society.

A nonpartisan, nonprofit institution founded in 1970, the Joint Center uses research and information dissemination to accomplish three objectives: to improve the socioeconomic status of black Americans; to increase their influence in the political and public policy arenas; and to facilitate the building of coalitions across racial lines.

We gratefully acknowledge the support of the Ford Foundation, the Rockefeller Foundation, and other foundations and corporations, which helped to make this publication possible.

PREFACE

This 1990 edition of Black Elected Officials: A National Roster documents the status of black political leaders in a year during which the Joint Center has celebrated its own 20th anniversary. During these last two decades we have watched black candidates across the United States make important inroads in the political process, gaining offices of increasing stature and in ever growing numbers. In Virginia, Lawrence Douglas Wilder rose during this same period from state legislator to lieutenant governor and has now become the first elected black governor in the country's history.

As of January 1990, there were 7,370 black elected officials (BEOs) at work in the nation, a two percent rise over the previous year and more than five times the number in 1970 when the Joint Center first began counting. Even with this growth, blacks today make up only 1.5 percent of all elected officials, in spite of the fact that among eligible voters blacks make up more than 11 percent of the total. Great strides have been made toward racial equity in political participation, both in public attitudes and through court decisions, but demographic, attitudinal, and structural barriers remain.

This volume was prepared under the supervision of Dr. Milton Morris, vice president of research. Research analyst Theresa Chambliss collected and tabulated the data, while project assistant Alfred Baltimore tracked election results. Editing and production were handled by communications director Nancy Stella, senior editor Marc DeFrancis, and production manager Tyra Wright. We gratefully acknowledge the contributions of all these staff members.

BLACK ELECTED OFFICIALS: 1970-1990

Between 1989 and 1990, the number of black elected officials (BEOs) grew by 140, a two percent rise, for a new total of 7,370. The past year's growth, while small, is typical of odd-numbered years in the 1980s.

Without doubt, blacks have made great progress in the political arena since 1970. This is especially clear in looking at the ranks of black elected officials. Not only have their numbers increased steadily, but so have the range and prominence of the offices they hold. Blacks have moved from the periphery of the political system to become vigorous, widely accepted participants in the country's political mainstream.

The Joint Center, which has monitored and reported on these political developments throughout its existence, marks its own 20th anniversary with the publication of this 1990 edition of the Roster. In reporting the data for this year, we take special note of developments over the last two decades.

The Pattern of Growth

Every Roster over the past 20 years has reported growth in the ranks of black elected officials. Throughout the 1980s, annual growth rates ranged from two percent (1983-84 and 1989-90) to nine percent (1982-83), for a decade average of four percent. By contrast, growth during the 1970s was roughly three times greater (averaging 13 percent), ranging from two percent (1978-79) to 27 percent (1970-71). (See Figure 1.) Over the entire 20-year period, the total number of black elected officials, including all offices and all levels of government, grew more than fivefold, rising from 1,469 in 1970 to 7,370 today.

The South saw the most pronounced increase in the number of black elected officials over the last two decades. As Figure 2 shows, this region had 39 percent of the nation's BEOs in 1970 and 68 percent in 1990. Comparison with population figures shows how dramatic a change this was: whereas in 1970 the South's share of the nation's BEOs (39 percent) trailed the South's share of the U.S. black population (53 percent), by 1990 that had been reversed, with the BEO share (68 percent) well ahead of the population share (60 percent). This Southern growth occurred in every state in the region and for every level of office.

As the Southern slice of the nation's BEO pie nearly doubled in relative size, the other three major regions shrank correspondingly. The proportion declined by more than half in both the Northeast (dropping from 23 to 10 percent) and the West (from nine to four percent), and in the Midwest it dropped from 29 to 18 percent.

Level of Office

Twenty years ago, at about the time the Joint Center opened its doors, L. Douglas Wilder won election to the Virginia House of Delegates for the first time. In April 1990, he addressed the Joint Center's 20th anniversary dinner as Governor Wilder, having just been inaugurated as chief executive of the Commonwealth of Virginia, the first black elected to a governorship in the nation's history. Governor Wilder's ascent illustrates the progress blacks have made in the level and range of offices they are winning. They have now been elected to every type of office except President and Vice President, and the offices many of them hold are among the nation's most visible.

This year, 24 black representatives sit in Congress, sustaining from last year the highest number ever. This compares with 10 representatives in 1970. The current members come from 13 states, with New York and California sending four each. The dean of the group, Augustus Hawkins, was first elected in 1964, while John Conyers, William Clay, and Louis Stokes have also held their seats for two decades.

The past two decades witnessed substantial increases in the number and distribution of black state legislators. This year there are 415 state senators and representatives serving in 44 states, making up eight percent of all such state officials. Though this is only a slight increase over last year, it is nearly three times the number in 1970, when 168 blacks served in 32 states and constituted two percent of the nation's total. In statewide offices, by contrast, blacks have made their weakest showing, Governor Wilder's historic achievement in Virginia notwithstanding. In 1970 there were four such officeholders, while today there are six.

The most explosive growth in black elected officials occurred at the county and municipal levels. Over the last 20 years the number of BEOs elected to county offices has grown nearly ninefold: in 1970 it was 92, last year it was 793, and by 1990 it was 810. At the municipal level the 20-year growth has been nearly sixfold: in 1970 there were 623 BEOs in various municipal government positions, last year there were 3,595, and by 1990 there were 3,671.

The increasing number of black mayors is especially noteworthy. There were but 48 black mayors in 1970, a figure that has grown more than sixfold to reach 313 by 1990. While the South holds about the same two-thirds share of the nation's black mayors now as it did two decades ago, the most visible mayoral gains occurred outside the South.

Black mayors have become highly visible symbols of the surge in black political influence, and are more influential nationally than their modest numbers suggest. While the majority govern small towns in the South, it is also true that blacks are now being elected to lead the nation's largest cities, a trend underscored by the 1989 election of David Dinkins as the mayor of New York City. Whereas 20 years ago only two of the 48 black mayors governed cities that were home to more than 50,000 people, by 1990 this was true for 33 of the nation's 313 black mayors. As of January 1990, black mayors were presiding over Philadelphia, Los Angeles, New York, and Detroit.

Educational policymakers too have experienced a notable increase in the number of blacks elected to their ranks. Over the past 20 years this number grew more than fourfold: in 1970 there were 362 BEOs elected to school boards and other education posts, last year there were 1,612, and by 1990 there were 1,655. More than 95 percent of the BEOs are local school board members, roughly three percent are college and university board members, and slightly less than one percent are elected school superintendents.

Though black women officeholders are still a minority within a minority, the gap between them and black men is narrowing. Moreover, by comparison with men of the same race, black women have outpaced white women. Currently, 26 percent of BEOs are women, as compared to 10 percent in 1970. For some categories of office, little has changed. While more than 21 percent of black mayors and 25 percent of black municipal council members are women, in Congress the situation has not changed since 1970: today as then, only one black woman is a U.S. representative on Capitol Hill.

Accounting for the Progress

The Voting Rights Act of 1965 and its later amendments have been critical to the progress blacks have made in gaining elective office over the last two decades. These laws brought an end to a variety of local laws and procedures which, for nearly a century, had kept blacks away from the ballot box. For the first time the majority of black Southerners could vote. When they did, they transformed Southern politics, placing black candidates in office in record numbers.

Two other forces also have contributed to blacks' power at the polls: voter mobilization and court challenges of discriminatory structures and procedures. Several organizations, both partisan and nonpartisan, have been vigorous in their mobilization activities. Meanwhile, persistent, highly successful attacks have been waged in the courts on a wide range of voting regulations and practices that obstructed minority voting or diluted its effects.

Particularly noteworthy among more recent efforts were the battles to end the diluting devices of at-large and multimember legislative districts and racial gerrymandering arrangements that in many jurisdictions seriously lowered the chances black candidates had of being elected. Vote dilution was the main issue in the voting rights challenges brought during the 1980s. With each success, states and localities have had to abandon the outlawed systems and replace them with single-member districts, thereby providing new electoral opportunities for blacks.

Changes in attitudes toward black candidates on the part of white voters have been just as important as legislative and judicial victories. Blacks running for office appear to have been attracting the support of white voters with increasing success. It is true that a few black candidates won substantial white support even two decades ago—for example, Edward Brooke, who was elected to two terms as Republican U.S. senator from Massachusetts, and several of the first big-city black mayors, who won with small but critical support from liberal whites. Nevertheless, voting across racial lines has become more widespread in recent years. Rev. Jesse Jackson won substantial electoral support in both of his presidential campaigns. In November 1989, as Governor Wilder was being elected with a substantial (40 percent) share of Virginia's white vote, six black mayors were being elected in white-majority cities across the country—New York, Los Angeles, Seattle, Oakland (California), Dayton (Ohio), and Rockford (Illinois).

The pattern of growth among black elected officials that has characterized the 1980s is likely to continue through the 1990s. A continued increase in the black electorate (which grew between 1984 and 1988 from 10.8 to 11.1 percent of the nation's total), as well as continued improvements in racial attitudes at the polls and new electoral opportunities resulting from the post-census redistricting, is likely to sustain this growth.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The Joint Center conducts its annual census of black elected officials (BEOs) by identifying newly elected blacks and verifying the listings that appear in the Roster.

The Roster is organized by state (including the territories). Within each of these sections, entries are grouped according to category of office, beginning with federal seats and followed by state and local seats. Overlapping does occur (e.g., educational offices include positions at the state, county, and municipal levels), but the pattern of overlap is consistent. Each entry contains the official's name, title, jurisdiction, and preferred mailing address, as well as the date on which the term of office expires. Each state section is preceded by a title page that lists basic population data and information on governmental organizations within the state.

The Roster contains the names of black elected officials sworn into office prior to February 1, 1990. The term "elected officials" refers mainly to those elected by popular vote to governmental office. Mayors elected by city councils are also included. Elective offices included are all those authorized by the U.S. Constitution, by state law, or by special state or municipal provision. In some instances, persons appointed to fill vacancies on elected bodies are included, along with persons who may face election in order to retain their posts (e.g., in certain judgeships). Not included are those elected to the leadership of political parties, such as party committee members, state or district leaders, and ward or precinct captains.

About 30 black elected officials hold two offices simultaneously. In order to get an accurate count of the number of elected offices held by blacks, both offices are counted toward the total number of BEOs in such cases. In the roster listing, an asterisk (*) beside an entry indicates a person holding two posts.

Some individuals are identified as officers of the elective bodies on which they serve. For example, many elected school board members are identified as president, vice president, secretary, or treasurer of their board, despite the fact that they were not elected by voters in that particular capacity. In all cases where elected officials are identified as officers of elected bodies, the expiration date provided applies only to their elective term.

Data Collection. The Roster research aims to identify every BEO in the United States, including the Virgin Islands. Data are collected through telephone interviews with the BEOs themselves, with the governmental bodies on which they serve, with organizations or caucuses of BEOs, and with state and local boards of election. A national newspaper clipping service is employed as well. Finally, all state secretaries are asked to review, approve, and correct the relevant state-page data.

Figures for total and voting-age population, detailed on the state pages, are 1986 estimates released by the U.S. Census Bureau, the latest data available. The black total and voting-age population figures are Joint Center estimates derived from the Census Bureau's 1986 projections and from its 1988 Election Advance Report.

ALABAMA

705 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Alabama is 4,052,000; the black population is 1,053,000, or 26 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,962,000; and the black voting age population is 652,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,162,000; the number of black registered voters is 443,000.

FEDERAL: Alabama has 7 congressional districts. Blacks constitute a substantial percentage of the populations of the First District (Mobile), 31 percent; the Second District (Montgomery), 31 percent; the Third District (Anniston), 28 percent; the Sixth District (Birmingham), 34 percent; and the Seventh District (Tuscaloosa), 33 percent.

STATE: The Alabama legislature convenes in Montgomery. The 35 members of the Senate and the 105 members of the House of Representatives are all elected from single-member districts. Senators and representatives serve 4-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 67 counties in Alabama and 357 members of county governing bodies, including 331 county commissioners and 26 probate judges who serve as chairmen of the county commissions. Counties are governed by commissions consisting of 3 to 7 members. Most commissioners are elected for 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are a total of 436 municipal governments in Alabama and 2,113 governing board members. A minimum population of 300 is usually required for incorporation. Most municipal elections are held every 4 years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Alabama, like most states, has a hierarchy of courts consisting of a supreme court, intermediate appellate courts, trial courts of general jurisdiction, and district and municipal courts. The appellate court system consists of the court of civil appeals and the court of criminal appeals. There are 9 supreme court judges, 3 civil appeals court judges, and 5 criminal appeals court judges. The trial court system consists of circuit, district, and municipal courts. There are 39 circuit courts and 124 circuit court judges, and 67 district courts and 91 district court judges. There are approximately 278 municipal courts and 68 probate courts. All judges except municipal court judges are elected to serve 6-year terms. Municipal court judges serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 130 school districts in Alabama—67 county school systems and 63 city school systems. All are administratively and fiscally independent. There are 391 elected school officials. City school boards ordinarily consist of 5 members appointed by the city council or commission for staggered 5-year terms. Most county school boards have 5 members elected at large for 6-year terms. County school board members are elected during the general election of state and county officers.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Alabama has 390 special districts or authorities. None of the 1,636 special district board members is elected.

ALASKA

4 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Alaska is 534,000; the black population is 16,000, or 3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 316,000; and the black voting age population is 12,000. The total number of registered voters is 221,000.

FEDERAL: The entire state of Alaska constitutes one congressional district, which is 3 percent black.

STATE: The Alaska legislature is composed of 20 members of the Senate, elected from 14 districts, and 40 members of the House of Representatives, elected from 27 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Juneau.

COUNTY: Alaska has 13 borough governments. Ten are administered by borough assemblies, which perform functions similar to those of county governments in other states. Three are unified municipalities, where the both the county- and city-level functions are in one unit. All areas that lie outside of organized boroughs or city-borough governments constitute a single unorganized borough, which is administered by the state legislature. Depending upon the population size of a borough, between 5 and 17 assembly members serve on a governing board. Most assembly members are elected by district and serve 3-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 161 city governments in Alaska and approximately 1,100 governing board members. Three city-borough governments—Anchorage, Juneau, and Sitka—are classified as municipalities. Most members of municipal governing bodies serve 3- to 4-year terms.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 64 courts in Alaska and 103 judicial officials—42 judges and 61 magistrates. There are 5 supreme court justices and 29 superior court judges, serving 10- and 6-year terms, respectively. Upon recommendation of the Alaska Judicial Council, judges are appointed by the governor to serve a term. Upon expiration of the initial term, judges may run unopposed for retention. No law enforcement officials are elected in Alaska.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The Alaska Board of Education governs the educational system. Members of the state board are appointed by the governor and approved by the legislature. Alaska has 55 school districts, each of which has a locally elected board of 5 to 11 members, who serve staggered 3-year terms. School board elections are held every October. In addition, most of the 23 districts in the unorganized borough may have an optional advisory committee. These advisory groups may be appointed or elected within the borough.

11 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Arizona is 3,317,000; the black population is 100,000, or 3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,480,000; and the black voting age population is 60,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,562,000.

FEDERAL: Arizona has 5 congressional districts. The Second District (Phoenix-Yuma) has the largest percentage of black residents, 6 percent.

STATE: The Arizona legislature convenes in Phoenix. The 30 members of the Senate are elected from single-member districts and the 60 members of the House of Representatives are elected from 30 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: The 15 counties in Arizona are governed by 57 supervisors, serving on county boards. Each board has either 3 or 5 members, who are elected by district and serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 80 municipalities and 540 members of governing boards. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 1,500. Most municipalities hold elections every 2 years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 176 courts in Arizona and approximately 304 judgeships. There are 5 supreme court justices, 18 appeals court judges, and 95 superior court judges. Supreme court justices and court of appeals judges are elected in nonpartisan races for 6-year terms. Judges for courts of general and limited jurisdiction are elected for 4-year terms. Other judges are selected as mandated by local charters. Elected sheriffs and constables serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 223 school districts in Arizona. Public schools are administratively and fiscally independent, with the exception of accommodation schools, which provide education in sparsely populated areas and are under the jurisdiction of county school superintendents. Local school boards have 3 or 5 members, depending on the type of district. Board members are elected for 4-year terms. School board elections are held on general election days. Nine community college districts come under the authority of the state Board of Directors for Community Colleges. Three state universities are administered by a Board of Regents.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 292 special districts or authorities. Board members are usually elected.

ARKANSAS

344 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Arkansas is 2,372,000; the black population is 380,000, or 16 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,742,000; and the black voting age population is 209,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,115,000; the number of black registered voters is 142,000.

FEDERAL: Arkansas has 4 congressional districts. The Fourth District (Pine Bluff) has the largest percentage of black residents, 28 percent. The First District (Jonesboro) is 19 percent black, and the Second District (Little Rock) is 17 percent black.

STATE: The Arkansas General Assembly, which convenes in Little Rock, consists of 35 members of the Senate, elected from single-member districts, and 100 members of the House of Representatives, elected from 100 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: The 75 counties in Arkansas are served by 767 governing board members, known as justices of the peace, who sit on quorum or levying courts in each county. The courts vary in size from 9 to 15 members, depending on the population of the county. All members of the quorum courts are elected from single-member districts for 2-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 482 cities and towns, and 2,607 municipal governing board members in Arkansas. Most municipalities hold elections every 2 years, in even-numbered years. There is no minimum population requirement for incorporation.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 413 courts and approximately 303 judgeships in Arkansas. The 7 supreme court and 6 appeals court judges serve 8-year terms. The 30 chancery and 32 circuit court judges serve 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. All other judges are elected for 2-year terms. There are 75 elected sheriffs and coroners, who serve 2-year terms. Constables, who are elected from townships, also serve 2-year terms. Marshals are authorized for all cities with at least 500 residents.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The state's 333 school districts are administratively and fiscally independent units of government under the direction of locally elected boards. The boards vary in size from 5 to 8 members. The 1,879 school board members in the state serve staggered terms of either 3, 4, or 5 years, with the length of term determined by the size of the board. Elections are held annually on the second Tuesday in March.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are approximately 505 special districts in Arkansas, which perform a wide variety of services. Most special districts perform a single function, such as conservation, mosquito abatement, fire protection, or water distribution.

CALIFORNIA

281 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of California is 26,981,000; the black population is 2,158,000, or 8 percent of the total; total voting age population is 20,194,000; and the black voting age population is 1,212,000. The total number of registered voters is 11,915,000; the number of black registered voters is 848,000.

FEDERAL: California has 45 congressional districts. The districts with the largest percentage of black residents are the Twenty-ninth (Los Angeles-Downey), 50 percent black; the Twenty-eighth (Los Angeles-Inglewood), 39 percent; the Thirty-first (Compton-Carson), 34 percent; and the Eighth (Oakland-Berkeley), 27 percent. Seven other districts have black populations of at least 10 percent.

STATE: The California legislature convenes in Sacramento. The 40 members of the Senate and the 80 members of the Assembly are all elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; assembly members serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: All of California's 58 counties are governed by 5-member boards of supervisors elected by district to 4-year terms, except the city-county of San Francisco, which has an 11-member board of supervisors.

MUNICIPAL: California's 441 municipalities are governed by about 1,884 board members, all elected in nonpartisan elections. Municipalities are designated as cities or towns depending on the size of their populations. The city-county of San Francisco has a consolidated government. Most elections are held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 233 courts and 1,383 judgeships in California. Supreme court and court of appeals judges are initially appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Commission on Judicial Appointments. The appointees serve until the earliest gubernatorial election. They are then subject to a nonpartisan retention election for a 12-year term. The 7 supreme court judges and 77 appeals court judges serve 12-year terms. The 724 superior court judges serve 6-year terms. Municipal court judges and justices of the peace are elected on nonpartisan ballots. There are 58 elected sheriffs and 51 elected coroners. Seven county coroners are appointed. Sheriffs and coroners serve 4-year terms. Constables, elected by justice-of-the-peace district, serve 6-year terms. There are also 3 elected commissioners for each police protection district.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 1,028 school districts with approximately 5,100 school board members. All of these officials are elected to 4-year terms of office.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 2,506 special districts and authorities.

COLORADO

14 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Colorado is 3,267,000; the black population is 131,000, or 4 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,344,000; and the black voting age population is 94,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,711,000; the number of black registered voters is 56,000.

FEDERAL: Colorado has 6 congressional districts. The First District (Denver) has the largest percentage of black residents, 12 percent.

STATE: The Colorado General Assembly comprises 35 seats in the Senate and 65 seats in the House of Representatives; all members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Denver.

COUNTY: Sixty-two counties (excluding the city-county of Denver) in Colorado are governed by 192 commissioners, who serve 4-year terms. Most of the counties elect 3 commissioners at large; however, El Paso County elects 5 commissioners by district, and Weld and Pitkin counties, which are home-rule counties, elect 5 commissioners under their respective charters. The city-county of Denver, a consolidated governmental unit which is classified as a municipality, has a 5-member appointed commission.

MUNICIPAL: There are 267 towns and cities in Colorado. Most municipalities are governed by a 7-member board. City councils serve as the governing bodies for cities, and boards of trustees are the governing bodies for towns. The city-county of Denver is considered a municipality but also functions as a county. Elected officials serve 2- or 4-year terms. City elections are held in November of odd-numbered years, and town elections are held in April of even-numbered years. Denver holds its regular election at 4-year intervals in May.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Colorado has 22 judicial districts, 220 courts, and approximately 429 judgeships. There are 7 supreme court judges, 10 appeals court judges, and 109 district court judges. Judges are appointed to 2-year terms by the governor. After judges' 2-year terms expire they may run for election for full terms of 4, 6, or 10 years. Municipal court judges are appointed by the municipal governing body; they may serve on a part-time basis. There are 63 sheriffs and coroners, who serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The 177 school districts in Colorado are independently governed by elected school boards. Total school board membership is approximately 985.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are at least 735 municipal service special districts in Colorado.

CONNECTICUT

66 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Connecticut is 3,189,000; the black population is 223,000, or 7 percent of the total; the total voting age population is 2,429,000; and the black voting age population is 94,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,795,000; the number of black registered voters is 56,000.

FEDERAL: Connecticut has 6 congressional districts. Blacks make up 12 percent of the First District (Hartford), 10 percent of the Third District (New Haven), and 11 percent of the Fourth District (Stamford-Bridgeport).

STATE: The Connecticut General Assembly comprises 36 seats in the Senate and 151 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the House and the Senate are elected from single-member districts. They serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Hartford.

COUNTY: Although county boundaries are retained for election and judicial purposes, there are no organized county governments.

MUNICIPAL: There are 169 municipalities in Connecticut and over 50 percent of them operate under the selectmen-town meeting form of government. The mayor-council and council-manager forms of government are also popular in Connecticut municipalities.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Connecticut has 187 courts and 274 judgeships. There are 7 supreme court judges, 139 superior court judges, and 9 appellate court judges. Judges of the supreme and superior courts are appointed by the General Assembly upon nomination by the governor and serve 8-year terms. Probate judges are elected on partisan ballots and serve 4-year terms. There are 8 elected sheriffs, who serve 4-year terms. There are 1 to 7 elected constables per township serving 1- or 2-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: Most of the 165 school districts are administratively independent and fiscally dependent on local boards of finance. There are 1,312 school board members, who serve 2- or 4-year terms. Elections are held the first Tuesday in November of every odd-numbered year.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 281 special districts and authorities in Connecticut. Board members are either elected or appointed depending upon the district or authority.

DELAWARE

22 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Delaware is 633,000; the black population is 101,000, or 16 percent of the total; total voting age population is 485,000; and the black voting age population is 67,000. The total number of registered voters is 310,000.

FEDERAL: The state of Delaware constitutes one congressional district, which is 16 percent black.

STATE: Delaware's General Assembly convenes in Dover. There are 21 seats in the Senate and 41 seats in the House of Representatives: all members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 3 counties in Delaware and 19 governing board members, who serve 2- and 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 56 incorporated cities and towns in Delaware, all chartered by the state legislature. There are 334 members of governing boards.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 91 judgeships in Delaware. Five judges serve on the supreme court, 13 on the superior court, 4 on the court of chancery, 5 on the court of common pleas, 13 on the family court, 3 on the municipal court in Wilmington, and 54 on the justice-of-the-peace courts. All judges are appointed by the governor and confirmed by the state Senate. With the exception of justices of the peace, all judges serve 12-year terms. Sheriffs are elected to 2-year terms in each county except New Castle, where sheriffs are elected to 4-year terms. Many of the municipalities have alderman courts with judges appointed by the city or town council. The state Department of Justice is administered by the attorney general and is the top law enforcement agency in Delaware.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 19 local school districts, governed by 119 school board members. Sixteen school boards have elected officials, who serve 5-year terms. The governor appoints 3 board members for each vocational-technical school district.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Delaware has a total of 139 special districts and authorities. Board members of the park districts in New Castle County are the state's only elected special district officers.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

235 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of the District of Columbia is 626,000; the black population is 438,000, or 70 percent of the total; total voting age population is 467,000; and the black voting age population is 308,000. The total number of registered voters is 300,000; the number of black registered voters is 178,000.

FEDERAL: The District of Columbia constitutes one congressional district, which is 70 percent black and elects one nonvoting delegate to the House of Representatives.

MUNICIPAL: The District of Columbia is classified as a municipality; however, it also performs state and county functions. There is an elected city council, with 5 members and a chairperson elected at large. An additional 8 members are elected from wards. Council elections are held in even-numbered years, and members serve 4-year terms. An elected mayor also serves a 4-year term. The 323 nonpartisan members of the 37 advisory neighborhood commissions are elected from single-member districts and serve 2-year terms on citizen advisory boards.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 2 courts and 60 judgeships in the District of Columbia. Judges who serve on the court of appeals (9) and the superior court (51) are nominated by the president of the United States and approved by the U.S. Senate; they serve 15-year terms. One judge in each court is designated by the president of the United States to serve as chief judge for a term of 4 years or until a successor is appointed.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The District of Columbia has 190 schools and an 11-member board of education, which is elected on a nonpartisan basis. There is one school district in Washington, D.C. The board is classified as an agency of the municipal government rather than as an independent governing body. Three board members are elected at large, and the others are elected from wards. Board members serve 4-year terms. Elections are held the first Tuesday in November of every odd-numbered year.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There is 1 independent special district. Board members are appointed.

FLORIDA

177 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Florida is 11,675,000; the black population is 1,518,000, or 13 percent of the total; total voting age population is 9,464,000; and the black voting age population is 1,230,000. The total number of registered voters is 5,773,000; the number of black registered voters is 713,400.

FEDERAL: Florida has 19 congressional districts. Thirteen districts are at least 10 percent black. Both the Third (Jacksonville) and Seventeenth (North Miami) districts are 27 percent black. The Second District (Tallahassee) is 24 percent black.

STATE: The Florida legislature comprises 40 members of the Senate and 120 members of the House of Representatives, each elected from a single district. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Tallahassee.

COUNTY: There are 67 counties and 359 governing board members. Commissioners are elected by district except in Volusia County, where councilmembers are elected at large, and in Duval, Hillsborough, and Leon counties, where councilmembers are elected at large and by district. Most county boards have 5 members, who serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: Florida has 391 municipalities, which include cities, towns, and villages, and approximately 2,000 governing board members. Municipalities are established by special acts of the state legislature or by general law. Under general law, the minimum population for incorporation is 1,500 persons. The city of Jacksonville and the county of Duval have consolidated to form a municipal government. There is no uniform schedule for municipal elections.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The 7 supreme court judges, 46 district court judges and 362 circuit court judges are elected on nonpartisan ballots for 6-year terms. County judges are elected for 4-year terms. As of January 3, 1977, all municipal courts were abolished. There are approximately 92 courts, with 608 judges. Florida has 67 elected sheriffs, who serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 67 local school districts in Florida, and 28 community college districts. A total of 350 elected school board members govern the school districts.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: A total of 417 special districts and authorities provide a variety of services including erosion prevention, navigation, library, hospital, and lighting services.

GEORGIA

495 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Georgia is 6,104,000; the black population is 1,648,000, or 27 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,530,000; and the black voting age population is 1,404,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,763,000; the number of black registered voters is 800,000.

FEDERAL: Georgia has 10 congressional districts. The Fifth District (Atlanta) is 65 percent black. Four other districts have black populations of at least 30 percent: the First District (Savannah), 33 percent; the Second District (Albany), 37 percent; the Third District (Columbus), 34 percent; and the Eighth District (Macon), 35 percent. The Tenth District (Augusta) has a black population of 25 percent.

STATE: The General Assembly comprises 56 seats in the Senate, all filled from single-member districts, and 180 seats in the House of Representatives, all filled from 156 districts. Members of the General Assembly serve 2-year terms and convene in Atlanta.

COUNTY: There are 159 counties in Georgia and 672 county commissioners. Governing board members are elected either by district or at large as determined by the county, and most serve 4-year terms. Governing boards usually consist of 3 to 5 members.

MUNICIPAL: The 556 municipalities in Georgia are classified as towns and cities. There are 2,780 governing board members. A minimum population of 200 is required for municipal incorporation. The city of Columbus and the county of Muscogee are consolidated to form one municipality. There is no uniform schedule for municipal elections.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are approximately 865 full-time judgeship positions in Georgia. Most of the judges are elected on a nonpartisan ballot. The 7 supreme court and 9 court of appeals judges serve 6-year terms. The 131 superior court judges serve 4-year terms. There is a probate court in each county, with a probate judge who serves a 4-year term. Some magistrates and judges of other county and municipal courts are appointed. There are 159 sheriffs, 156 coroners, and 424 magistrates.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 186 districts governed by 1,110 school board members; 814 board members are elected to serve 4-year terms and 296 are appointed. There are 28 independent school systems and 33 universities.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 390 special districts and authorities.

HAWAII

1 Black Elected Official

POPULATION: The total population of Hawaii is 1,062,000; the black population is 21,000, or 2 percent of the total; total voting age population is 745,000; and the black voting age population is 16,000. The total number of registered voters is 461,000.

FEDERAL: Hawaii has 2 congressional districts. Blacks comprise 2 percent of the population of District Two (Oahu-Outer Islands) and 2 percent of District One (Honolulu).

STATE: There are 25 seats in the Senate; members are elected from 25 districts. The House of Representatives has 51 seats; members are elected from 51 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Honolulu.

COUNTY: There are 3 counties with organized county governments: Hawaii, Kauai, and Maui. Kalawao County includes the Kalaupapa Settlement and is governed by the state Department of Health. Oahu County, known as the city-county of Honolulu, is classified as a municipality. There are 34 members of county governing bodies (9 councilmembers each from Honolulu, Hawaii, and Maui counties, and 7 from Kauai County), who serve either 2- or 4-year terms, depending upon the county.

MUNICIPAL: The combined city-county of Honolulu is Hawaii's only organized municipality. There are 9 members on the city council. Each member is elected from a separate city council district and serves a 4-year term. In 1980, the Office of Hawaiian Affairs was established to oversee the utilization of and proceeds from lands held in public trust for the Hawaiian people. The office also advocates better conditions for native Hawaiians. A special election is held every 2 years to elect the 9 members of the Board of Trustees of the Office of Hawaiian Affairs. This election is restricted to registered voters of Hawaiian ancestry.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Hawaii has 65 judicial positions. Five supreme court, 24 circuit court, and 3 intermediate appellate court judges are appointed by the governor, with the consent of the Senate, for 10-year terms. There are 22 district court judges and 11 district family court judges, who are appointed to 6-year terms by the chief judge of the state supreme court. The prosecuting attorneys of the counties of Hawaii and Kauai and the city-county of Honolulu are the only elected law enforcement officials of the state.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: All educational services are provided by the state government. The Board of Education is made up of 13 members elected at-large from 2 school board districts—all members elected at-large from the First School Board District (city-county of Honolulu), and 3 members elected at large from the Second School Board District (counties of Hawaii, Maui, and Kauai).

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 15 special districts; only soil and water conservation districts count as governments, however.

IDAHO

0 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Idaho is 1,002,000; the black population is 3,000, or 0.3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 681,000; and the black voting age population is 1,000. The total number of registered voters is 477,000.

FEDERAL: Idaho has 2 congressional districts. Both districts have black populations of less than 1 percent.

STATE: The Idaho legislature comprises 42 seats in the Senate, whose members are elected from 33 districts, and 84 seats in the House of Representatives, whose members are elected from 33 districts. Members of the legislature, which convenes in Boise, serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 44 counties in Idaho and 132 county commissioners, all of whom are elected at large. All boards of commissioners have 3 members. One member serves a 4-year term, and the other 2 members serve 2-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: The 198 municipalities in Idaho are all classified as cities, although the terms town and village are used occasionally. A total of 871 councilmembers govern the cities. Each council consists of 4 or 6 members, who serve 2-year terms. Elections are held in odd-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 45 courts and 32 judgeships in Idaho. The 5 supreme court and 31 district court judges are elected in nonpartisan elections for 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. Three intermediate appellate court judges serve 6-year terms. District court magistrates are appointed by a commission and serve 4-year terms. After initial appointment, the magistrates stand for election. There are 44 elected sheriffs and coroners, serving 4- and 2-year terms, respectively. Precinct committee members are elected from each precinct and serve 2-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 116 school districts in Idaho and 576 elected board members.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 659 special districts or authorities in Idaho.

ILLINOIS

461 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Illinois is 11,552,000; the black population is 1,733,000, or 15 percent of the total; total voting age population is 8,357,000; and the black voting age population is 1,337,000. The total number of registered voters is 5,766,000; the number of black registered voters is 1,083,000.

FEDERAL: Illinois has 22 congressional districts. The First and Second districts (South Side Chicago and Lake Calumet Chicago) have the largest black populations, 92 and 70 percent, respectively. Another district with a sizable black population, the Seventh District (West Side Chicago), has a 67 percent black population.

STATE: The General Assembly comprises 59 senators and 118 representatives, elected from single-member districts. Senate members serve staggered terms of 2 or 4 years. House members serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Springfield.

COUNTY: There are 102 counties and approximately 1,667 elected board members. Eighty-five counties have organized township governments, and the others are governed by boards of commissioners. The membership of county governing bodies ranges from 3 to 29 officials. Township board members serve 4 years; commission members serve 3 years. Special county provisions require that 10 of the 16 commissioners serving Cook County come from Chicago.

MUNICIPAL: There are 1,279 municipalities and 8,050 governing board members in Illinois. In addition, there are 1,434 townships, each of which is administered by a supervisor and a board of trustees. Elections are usually held every 2 years, in odd-numbered years. The minimum population required for municipal incorporation is 2,500 persons living within 4 square miles. The minimum for village incorporation is 200 persons living within 2 square miles.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 7 supreme court judges, 34 judges serving 5 appellate court districts, and 780 judges and associate judges serving 22 judicial circuits. Judges of the supreme and appellate courts are elected for 10-year terms, judges of the circuit court for 6-year terms, and associate judges of the circuit court for 4-year terms. Judges are first elected to office in partisan elections. Before their terms of office expire, supreme court, appellate court, and circuit court judges who have been elected to office may make declaration to succeed themselves. Retention in office for another term requires an affirmative vote of three-fifths of the electors voting on the question. A separate ballot without party designation is constitutionally required. Illinois has 102 sheriffs and 102 coroners who serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 997 school districts. All are independent administratively and fiscally. With the exception of Chicago, all school districts are governed by 6,800 school board members elected to 4-year terms. In Chicago, the school board members are appointed by the mayor and serve 5-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 2,602 special districts or authorities.

KANSAS

23 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Kansas is 2,460,000; the black population is 123,000, or 5 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,772,000; and the black voting age population is 88,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,205,000; the number of black registered voters is 48,000.

FEDERAL: Kansas has 5 congressional districts. The Third District (Kansas City), with a black population of 10 percent, has the largest percentage of black residents. It is followed by the Second (Topeka) and Fourth (Wichita) Districts, which have black populations of 7 percent.

STATE: The Kansas legislature convenes in Topeka. There are 40 seats in the Senate and 125 seats in the House of Representatives. Members of the Senate and House are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 105 counties; the 321 governing board members are elected by district for 4-year terms. All board members serve on boards of commissioners, generally composed of 3 members. Three counties (Coffey, Johnson, and Sedgewick) have 5-member boards of commissioners.

MUNICIPAL: There are 627 municipalities and 3,128 governing body members. Forms of government vary widely among municipalities. However, most governing body members serve 2- or 4-year terms. Kansas also has 1,416 townships, but they have very limited functions. Most duties are performed by the counties. The principal administrators of the townships are trustees, who serve 4-year terms. A minimum population of 300 is required for municipal incorporation.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: In 1977, Kansas implemented a court unification plan. The state judiciary is now composed of the supreme court (with 1 chief judge and 6 other judges), the court of appeals, and 31 judicial court districts. There are 286 judgeships in the district courts. Supreme and appellate court judges are initially appointed by the governor, for 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. At the end of their terms, judges must be retained by the voters. District court judges serve 4-year terms. One sheriff is authorized for each county, but Riley County has combined city and county law enforcement and elects no sheriff. One marshal is authorized for each city with 14,999 inhabitants or less. There are 29 coroners.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: In Kansas, 303 school districts are governed by about 2,121 elected school board members. The school districts are administratively and financially independent. Board members usually serve 4-year terms. There are 19 community college service areas. School board elections are held the first Tuesday in April.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 1,599 special districts governed by 6,097 board members, who serve 1- to 4-year terms.

KENTUCKY

70 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Kentucky is 3,729,000; the black population is 261,000, or 7 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,667,000; and the black voting age population is 133,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,654,000; the number of black registered voters is 61,180.

FEDERAL: Kentucky has 7 congressional districts. The Third District (Louisville) has the largest percentage of black residents, 20 percent.

STATE: The Kentucky General Assembly comprises 38 seats in the Senate and 100 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the General Assembly are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The Kentucky General Assembly convenes in Frankfort.

COUNTY: There are 119 counties in Kentucky. The city-county of Fayette is counted as an urban county government. Of the 731 board members that govern the counties, 120 are elected at large, 48 are elected at large with district residence requirements, and 563 are elected by district. Fiscal courts, as the boards are called, usually have 3 to 8 members, who serve 4-year terms. The members of the fiscal courts include magistrates or commissioners and the county judge-executive.

MUNICIPAL: There are 425 municipalities, which include towns and 6 classes of cities, categorized by size. Over 3,000 board members serve on governing bodies for 2 or 4 years. Communities must have 300 inhabitants to incorporate.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The supreme court, court of appeals, district court, and circuit court make up the court of justice. The 7 supreme court judges and the 14 judges from the court of appeals are elected from 7 appellate districts. There are 91 circuit court judges elected from 56 judicial circuits. Appellate and circuit court judges serve 8-year terms. There are 124 district court judges elected from 57 judicial districts to serve 4-year terms. Police judges are elected in first-, second-, and third-class cities. Beginning in January 1978, all lower courts and the judicial functions of county judges were abolished. The lower courts were replaced by district courts, with 113 judges, elected from 57 judicial districts, serving 4-year terms. There are 120 elected sheriffs and coroners, serving 4-year terms. Constables are elected in counties with a population of 250,000 or more. Counties with fewer than 250,000 inhabitants elect justices of the peace (magistrates), who also serve on the fiscal court. One constable is authorized for each justice-of-the-peace district.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 178 school districts, including 120 county and 58 city school districts. All members of the school boards are elected. The 915 school board members serve 4-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Kentucky has 517 special districts governed by 1,047 board members.

LOUISIANA

527 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Louisiana is 4,501,000; the black population is 1,305,000, or 29 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,036,000; and the black voting age population is 820,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,277,000; the number of black registered voters is 631,000.

FEDERAL: Louisiana has 8 congressional districts. Five districts have black populations that exceed 20 percent. The two districts with the largest black populations are the Second District (New Orleans-Jefferson), 59 percent, and the Eighth District (Alexandria), 38 percent.

STATE: The Louisiana legislature, which convenes in Baton Rouge, comprises 39 seats in the Senate and 105 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the House and Senate are elected from single-member districts. Senators and representatives serve 4-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 64 parishes (counties) in Louisiana and about 654 governing body members. In all except 13 parishes, police juries serve as the governing body. Police jury members are elected from districts or wards within the parishes, and serve 4-year terms. The parishes of Caddo, Iberia, Jefferson, Lafourche, Plaquemines, St. Charles, St. James, St. John the Baptist, and St. Mary are governed by councils or commissions. The city of New Orleans and the parish of Orleans are governed jointly by a city council. The city of Baton Rouge and the parish of East Baton Rouge are governed jointly by the metro council. The city of Houma and the parish of Terrebonne are governed jointly by the parish council.

MUNICIPAL: There are 301 municipalities and 1,833 governing board members in Louisiana. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 300 in most places. Depending on size, incorporated communities are classified as cities, towns, or villages. Most municipalities hold elections every 4 years, in even-numbered years. Some municipalities are governed by a charter, drawn up by the citizens and approved by the voters.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The 247 judges in Louisiana are elected in nonpartisan elections, and terms of office vary among the 98 courts. The 7 supreme court judges and 48 appeals court judges serve 10-year terms. The 192 district court judges serve 6-year terms. The supreme court is the highest court, followed by the circuit court of appeals, various district courts, juvenile and family courts, and municipal courts. Each of the 64 parishes elects one sheriff and one coroner, except Orleans Parish, which elects both a civil and criminal sheriff. Sheriffs and coroners serve for 4 years.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 66 school districts administered by 66 public school boards. The 683 school board members are elected to concurrent 4-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Louisiana has 260 independent special districts. Most special district board members are appointed.

MAINE

2 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Maine is 1,173,000; the black population is 4,000, or 0.3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 884,000; and the black voting age population is 2,000. The total number of registered votes is 716,000.

FEDERAL: Maine has 2 congressional districts. The black population of each district is less than 1 percent.

STATE: The state Senate has 35 seats; members are elected from single-member districts. The House has 151 seats; members are elected from 151 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Augusta.

COUNTY: There are 16 counties in Maine and 48 governing board members. Board members are elected by district. Three county commissioners, elected for 4-year terms, serve each county.

MUNICIPAL: There are 22 governments classified as cities, 424 as townships, and 51 as plantations. Towns are governed by boards of selectmen, and plantations are governed by boards of assessors. Most municipalities hold annual elections.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 7 supreme judicial court judges, 16 superior court judges, 25 district court judges, and 16 probate judges. With the exception of probate judges, all are appointed to 7-year terms by the governor (with consent of the Senate). Probate judges are elected in their counties and serve 4-year terms. Sixteen sheriffs are elected to 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 98 school district governments and 195 dependent public school systems. Several types of school boards serve the school systems in Maine. These include 194 municipal boards, 75 school administrative district boards, 13 community school district boards, 3 native American reservation boards, and 2 regional vocational boards. The 1,800 school board members in the state are elected for 3-year terms on a rotating basis.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 195 special districts in Maine served by 392 elected board members.

MARYLAND

118 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Maryland is 4,463,000; the black population is 1,116,000, or 25 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,422,000; and the black voting age population is 821,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,190,000; the number of black registered voters is 403,000.

FEDERAL: Maryland has 8 congressional districts. The district with the largest percentage of black residents is the Seventh District (West Baltimore), which is 73 percent black. Four other districts contain black populations of more than 10 percent: the Fifth District (Prince George's County), 35 percent; the Fourth District (Annapolis), 21 percent; the First District (Chesapeake Bay), 21 percent; and the Third District (East Baltimore), 16 percent.

STATE: The Maryland General Assembly has 47 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. There are 141 seats in the House of Delegates; members are elected from 47 districts. All legislators serve 4-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Annapolis.

COUNTY: There are 23 counties in Maryland and 107 governing board members, who serve 4-year terms. County councils exist in 8 home-rule counties, and boards of county commissioners exist in 11 counties. The counties of Kent, Worcester, Caroline, and Allegany are home-rule counties and are also governed by boards of commissioners. Baltimore City is an independent city and is separate from Baltimore County.

MUNICIPAL: Maryland has 154 municipalities and 721 governing body members. Most board members serve 4-year terms.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Most of the 210 judgeship positions are initially filled by gubernatorial appointment. They subsequently run for retention on nonpartisan ballots after at least one year of service. The seven judges on the court of appeals, however, are designated by the governor to 10-year terms. There are 13 judges on the special court of appeals and 109 circuit court judges. District court judges are appointed to 10-year terms, and the 66 orphan's court judges are elected in partisan elections to 4-year terms. Maryland has 73 courts. In addition, registrars of wills, who serve as clerks of the orphan's courts are elected. There are 24 elected sheriffs.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: School districts in Maryland are not independent administratively and fiscally; they are administered by each of the 24 county boards of education. Ten of the 24 school districts in Maryland elect school board members. Each of these districts elects 3 to 9 board members to 4- or 6-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: The 264 special districts in Maryland are governed by 579 elected board members.

MASSACHUSETTS

36 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Massachusetts is 5,832,000; the black population is 233,000, or 4 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,445,000; and the black voting age population is 178,000. The total number of registered voters is 3,156,000; the number of black registered votes is 80,100.

FEDERAL: Massachusetts has 11 congressional districts. The Ninth District (Boston-Taunton), with a black population of 16 percent, has the largest percentage of black residents.

STATE: The Massachusetts General Court convenes in Boston; it comprises 40 seats in the Senate and 160 seats in the House of Representatives. All legislators represent single-member districts and serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 14 counties in Massachusetts. With the exceptions of Nantucket and Suffolk, each county is administered by a 3-member board of commissioners and a county finance board. Commissioners are elected within each county. The finance board is comprised of representatives from all cities and towns within a county. Nantucket and Suffolk lack distinctly organized county governments. The area and governing body of Nantucket are identical to that of Nantucket town. Suffolk County is consolidated with the city of Boston.

MUNICIPAL: Massachusetts has 39 municipal and 312 township governments. There are 390 councilmembers serving on the municipal governing boards and 1,105 selectmen serving on the township boards. Councilmembers generally serve 2-year terms, and selectmen, 1- to 3-year terms. The minimum population requirement for municipal incorporation is 12,000.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Massachusetts has 95 courts. There are 6 supreme judicial court judges, 13 appeals court judges, and 281 trial court judges. Judges are appointed for life or until they reach 70 years of age. One sheriff is elected for each of the 14 counties, and at least one constable is either elected or appointed for each city and town.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: According to state law, 2 or more towns may establish regional school districts. There are 81 such districts, which are administratively and fiscally independent. Of the 81, 54 of these are Academic Regions and the other 27 are Vocational Regions. The other 357 school systems in Massachusetts are considered agencies of town, city, or county governments. The number of school board members varies from board to board, and there is no uniform term of service.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Massachusetts has 391 special districts and 1,154 elected board members.

MICHIGAN

309 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Michigan is 9,145,000; the black population is 1,189,000, or 13 percent of the total; total voting age population is 6,753,000; and the black voting age population is 878,000. The total number of registered voters is 4,862,000; the number of black registered voters is 650,000.

FEDERAL: Michigan has 18 congressional districts. The First District (Detroit-Highland Park) is 71 percent black. The Thirteenth District, which contains the inner city of Detroit, is 71 percent black. Other districts with significant black percentages are the Seventh (Flint) and Seventeenth (Detroit-Southfield), 15 and 13 percent black, respectively.

STATE: The Michigan legislature convenes in Lansing; it comprises 38 seats in the Senate and 110 seats in the House of Representatives. All House and Senate members represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 83 counties in Michigan. All 722 county commissioners, who serve 2-year terms, are elected by district.

MUNICIPAL: The 534 cities and villages in Michigan comprise its municipalities. In addition, Michigan has 1,242 townships. Approximately 3,700 governing board members are elected to serve 4-year terms. The minimum population required for incorporation is 2,000 for a city and 150 for a village.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Michigan has 244 courts and 581 judgeship positions. There are 7 supreme court judges, 18 court of appeals judges, 167 circuit court judges, and 29 recorder's court judges in Detroit. All judges are elected in nonpartisan elections. Most serve 6- to 8-year terms. There are 83 elected sheriffs, 1 authorized for each county. Up to four constables are authorized for each township.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: All of the 565 local school districts in Michigan are independent administratively and fiscally. There are also 29 community college districts and 13 state supported 4-year colleges and universities. The number of members serving on boards varies, but most boards have 7 members who serve 4-year terms. Elections are usually held annually, in June, or during the odd-year general election.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Michigan's 184 special districts are governed by 355 elected board members.

MINNESOTA

12 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Minnesota is 4,214,000; the black population is 42,000, or 1 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,131,000; and the black voting age population is 37,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,442,000.

FEDERAL: Minnesota has 8 congressional districts. The Fifth District (Minneapolis) is 6 percent black and contains over half of the state's black population.

STATE: The Minnesota legislature comprises 67 seats in the Senate and 134 seats in the House of Representatives; all members of the House and Senate represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in St. Paul.

COUNTY: There are 87 counties and 445 governing board members, all elected by district. All commissioners are elected for 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 855 municipalities in Minnesota, including 107 home-rule cities and 748 statutory cities. In addition, there are 1,800 townships. The municipalities and townships are governed by 9,040 elected board members, who serve 2- to 4-year terms. Most cities hold elections in November.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 7 supreme court judges, 18 court of appeals judges, 167 circuit court judges, 72 district court judges, 108 county court judges, and 28 municipal court judges. Most serve 6-year terms. One sheriff and one coroner are authorized for each of the 87 counties (one county appoints its coroner). Two constables are authorized for each township. Sheriffs and coroners serve 4-year terms and constables, 2-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The 430 school districts in Minnesota are independent administratively and fiscally; they are served by 2,750 board members, elected to 3-year terms. Elections are generally held annually, in May.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: The 356 special districts are governed by 618 elected board members.

MISSISSIPPI

669 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Mississippi is 2,625,000; the black population is 919,000, or 35 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,805,000; and the black voting age population is 596,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,408,000; the number of black registered voters is 441,000.

FEDERAL: Mississippi has 5 congressional districts. Each has a substantial percentage of black residents. The Second and Fourth districts (Mississippi Delta and Jackson) contain the largest percentages of blacks, 58 and 42 percent, respectively. The First District (Tupelo) is 25 percent black, the Third District (Meridian) is 32 percent black, and the Fifth District (Gulfport-Biloxi) is 19 percent black.

STATE: The legislature, which convenes in Jackson, comprises 52 seats in the Senate and 122 seats in the House of Representatives. Senators and representatives serve 4-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 82 counties in Mississippi, each of which is divided into five districts. Supervisors are elected from each district to serve on the county's board of supervisors, and each of the state's 410 supervisors serves a 4-year term.

MUNICIPAL: Mississippi has 293 municipalities and 1,400 governing board members. Municipalities can incorporate as cities or towns. In order to do so they must have minimum populations of 2,000 or 300, respectively. Elections for municipal officers are generally held in June. Governing board members usually serve 4-year terms.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The Mississippi judicial system consists of the supreme, chancery, circuit, family, county, municipal, and justice courts. Chancery court judges are authorized as chancellors and justice court judges as justices of the peace. There are approximately 550 judgeships. There are 9 supreme court judges, 40 chancery court judges, and 35 circuit court judges. Supreme court judges are elected to 8-year terms. Chancery, justice and circuit court judges serve for 4 years.

Municipal court judges are appointed and serve at the will of the municipality. Serving for 4 years each are 82 sheriffs and 82 coroners (1 elected per county), 415 constables (1 elected per justice court district), and municipal marshals, who are elected to the position in the absence of a police force.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 154 school districts in Mississippi, including 68 county unit school districts, 28 consolidated school districts, 53 municipal school districts, and 5 special municipal separate school districts. Approximately 585 elected school board members serve on governing bodies. County unit school board members are elected to 6-year terms. Consolidated school board members are elected at large to 5-year terms. Municipal separate school boards appoint and elect board members.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 315 special districts served by 267 elected board members.

MISSOURI

169 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Missouri is 5,066,000; the black population is 557,000, or 11 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,755,000; and the black voting age population is 376,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,816,000; the number of black registered voters is 278,000.

FEDERAL: Missouri has 9 congressional districts. The First District, which includes the northern part of St. Louis, is 52 percent black. The Fifth District (Kansas City) is 23 percent black.

STATE: The Missouri General Assembly comprises 34 seats in the Senate and 163 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the General Assembly are elected from single-member districts. Senators are elected for 4-year terms; representatives for 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Jefferson City.

COUNTY: There are 114 counties and 354 elected governing board members. Most board members are elected by district and serve 2- or 3-year terms. Counties are divided into 4 categories on the basis of their total assessed valuation.

MUNICIPAL: Missouri has 934 municipalities and 325 townships. The minimum population requirement for city incorporation is 500 residents. Villages are incorporated municipalities with less than 500 inhabitants. Cities with more than 5,000 residents may adopt charters for their own government and become constitutional charter cities. Other municipalities are divided into 2 classes. At the time of incorporation third-class municipalities must have 3,000 or more residents. Fourth-class municipalities must have 500 to 3,000 residents. First- and second-class city classifications were abolished in 1975. The municipalities are governed by 5,366 elected councilmembers, aldermen, and trustees. All elections are held during the spring. Terms of office vary among municipalities.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The 531 courts in Missouri are served by 547 judges. There are 7 supreme court judges, 32 court of appeals judges, and 133 circuit court and 170 associate circuit court judges. Judges of the supreme and appellate courts are appointed for 12-year terms. With the exception of supreme and circuit court judges in the city of St. Louis and a few counties, all judges are elected on a partisan ballot. In addition, there are 114 elected sheriffs and coroners—one authorized for each county—who serve 4-year terms. One constable is authorized for each magistrate district. One marshal is elected for municipalities with populations of 10,000 to 30,000 in first-class counties, in third-class mayor-council cities, and in fourth-class cities.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: Missouri has 545 school districts. All are independent administratively and fiscally. There are 3,280 school board members, all elected. Boards generally have 6 members, serving 3-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 1,195 special districts and 3,082 elected board members.

MONTANA

0 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Montana is 819,000; the black population is 2,000, or 0.2 percent of the total; total voting age population is 569,000; and the black voting age population is 1,000. The total number of registered voters is 427,000.

FEDERAL: Montana has 2 congressional districts. Each has a black population of less than 1 percent.

STATE: There are 50 seats in the Senate and 100 seats in the House of Representatives. All members of the House and Senate are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The Montana legislature convenes in Helena.

COUNTY: There are 56 counties in Montana and 179 governing board members. Fifty-two counties operate with traditional 3-member county commissions; members are elected at large, with district residence requirements. The city-county of Anaconda-Deer Lodge has a 5-member commission, and the city-county of Butte-Silver Bow has a 12-member commission.

MUNICIPAL: Montana has 127 municipalities and 638 elected governing board members. The most prevalent form of government is the mayor-council. The terms of service for councilmembers vary according to jurisdiction.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 7 supreme court judges, elected for 8-year terms, and 36 district court judges, who serve for 6 years. All judges, including municipal and justice-of-the-peace court judges, are elected on a nonpartisan ballot. Montana has 56 elected sheriffs and coroners, who serve 4-year terms. Two constables are elected for each township.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 548 administratively and fiscally independent school districts and 3 community college school districts, served by approximately 1,500 school board members. All are elected.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 450 special districts served by 684 elected board members.

NEBRASKA

4 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Nebraska is 1,598,000; the black population is 48,000, or 3 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,142,000; and the black voting age population is 31,000. The total number of registered voters is 811,000.

FEDERAL: Nebraska has 3 congressional districts. The Second District (Omaha) is 8 percent black.

STATE: The Nebraska legislature is the only unicameral state legislative body in the United States. There are 49 seats for 49 legislative districts. All legislators are elected for 4-year staggered terms. The legislature convenes in Lincoln.

COUNTY: There are 93 counties in Nebraska and 407 members of county governing bodies. County governing bodies are usually called boards of commissioners. In counties where there are township governments, governing bodies are called boards of supervisors. Board members serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: The municipalities in Nebraska include 534 cities and villages. There are 471 townships. Cities are divided into 5 classes, according to population. The minimum population requirement for incorporation as a village is 100. There are 2,655 elected board members governing the municipalities. Township boards have a total of 1,413 members. Municipal board members serve 4-year terms. Most elections are held every 2 years, in the spring of even-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 191 courts and approximately 116 judges in Nebraska. There are 7 supreme court judges and 48 district judges. Supreme court judges, district court judges, county court judges, and juvenile court judges are appointed initially by the governor. At the conclusion of the first 3 years following their initial appointments, these judges must face election for retention in office. If retained, they serve for 6 years. One elected sheriff is authorized in each of 93 counties.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are a total of 955 public school districts divided into 6 categories on the basis of the kinds of services offered and the size of the populations served. Elected and appointed boards serve the districts.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are some 1,157 special districts, served by 5,669 governing board members.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

2 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of New Hampshire is 1,027,000; the black population is 4,000, or 0.4 percent of the total; total voting age population is 816,000; and the black voting age population is 3,000. The total number of registered voters is 539,000.

FEDERAL: New Hampshire has 2 congressional districts. The black population of each is no more than 1 percent.

STATE: New Hampshire has 24 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. The 400 seats in the House are filled from 161 districts. All members of the General Court serve 2-year terms. The General Court convenes in Concord.

COUNTY: There are 10 counties and 30 county commissioners in New Hampshire. Most commissioners are elected by district to 2-year terms. Four counties elect commissioners at large; 2 of those counties have district residence requirements.

MUNICIPAL: Thirteen cities, which have been established by legislative act, represent New Hampshire's municipalities. There are also 224 townships. About 2,400 officials serve on municipal governing boards. Most elections are held in the spring; however, the frequency varies by municipality.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The 73 courts in New Hampshire are served by 125 judgeship positions. There are 5 supreme court judges, 25 superior court judges, 84 district court judges, and 11 municipal court judges. All judges are appointed and serve until age 70. The registrar of probate for each probate court is elected and serves 2 years. One sheriff is elected for a 2-year term in each county. One elected constable is authorized for each town.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: Of the 170 school districts, 161 are independent fiscally and administratively. There are 788 board members, who serve 3-year terms. All are elected.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 113 special districts governed by 299 elected board members.

NEW JERSEY

201 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of New Jersey is 7,619,000; the black population is 990,000, or 13 percent of the total; total voting age population is 5,803,000; and the black voting age population is 696,000. The total number of registered voters is 3,888,000; the number of black registered voters is 418,000.

FEDERAL: New Jersey has 14 congressional districts. The Tenth District (Newark) has the largest percentage of blacks, 58 percent. The First (Camden), Second (Atlantic City-Vineland), Fourth (Trenton), Seventh (Elizabeth), Eighth (Paterson), and Fourteenth (Jersey City) districts have black populations between 10 and 16 percent.

STATE: The state legislature is composed of a Senate and a General Assembly. The Senate has 40 seats; members are elected from single-member districts. There are 80 General Assembly seats; members represent 40 districts. Senators are elected the year following the U.S. Census and serve 2-year terms. When re-elected after the first 2 years, senators serve 4-year terms until after the next Census, when the process is repeated. Members of the Assembly serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Trenton.

COUNTY: There are 21 counties and 137 members of governing boards, which are called boards of chosen freeholders. Members, called freeholders, are generally elected at large to 3-year terms except in Atlantic, Essex, and Hudson counties, which elect some freeholders by district.

MUNICIPAL: There are 567 municipalities designated as cities, towns, boroughs, villages, and townships. There are 3,028 elected members of municipal governing boards. Election schedules vary in cities, towns, and boroughs. Elections in most townships are held annually. There is some flexibility in the type of government a municipality may choose, but all municipalities are governed by some form of municipal council.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Most of New Jersey's judgeships are appointive. There are 630 courts. In addition, there are 7 supreme court judges, 28 judges in the appellate division of the superior court, 321 superior court judges, and 8 tax court judges. Municipal judges are appointed for 3-year terms, and tenured judges serve until age 70. There are 21 elected sheriffs.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 592 school districts in New Jersey, served by 4,841 elected school board members. Board members serve 3-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 437 special districts governed by 600 board members.

NEW MEXICO

6 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of New Mexico is 1,479,000; the black population is 30,000, or 2 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,039,000; and the black voting age population is 17,000. The total number of registered voters is 665,000.

FEDERAL: New Mexico has 3 congressional districts. District Two (Las Cruces) has the largest black population, 3 percent.

STATE: The legislature has 42 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. The 70 members of the House of Representatives are also elected from single-member districts. State senators serve terms of 4 years; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Santa Fe.

COUNTY: There are 33 counties and 108 county commissioners. All commissioners are elected for 2- or 4-year terms. Most counties elect 3 commissioners at large, with district residence requirements.

MUNICIPAL: There are 98 cities, towns, and villages, served by about 435 board members. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 150. In most places, elections are held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 199 courts and 230 judgeships in New Mexico. Five supreme and 7 appeals court judges, who are elected during statewide general elections, serve 8 years. Fifty-nine district judges are elected to 6-year terms. Probate judges serve 2-year terms. Magistrates and municipal judges serve 4-year terms. All judges are elected on partisan ballots.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 88 school districts. School boards are independent fiscally and administratively. There are 459 elected school board members, who serve 4-year terms. The state education system is governed by a 15-member board of education. With the exception of 5 school board members who are appointed by the governor all school board members are elected.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 101 special districts served by 450 board members.

NEW YORK

263 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of New York is 17,772,000; the black population is 2,488,000, or 14 percent of the total; total voting age population is 13,285,000; and the black voting age population is 1,727,000. The total number of registered voters is 7,971,000; the number of black registered voters is 864,000.

FEDERAL: New York has 34 congressional districts. Five districts have black populations of 44 percent or more: the Sixth District (Jamaica Queens), 50 percent; the Eleventh District (Bedford Stuyvesant Brooklyn), 50 percent; the Twelfth District (Crown Heights Brooklyn), 80 percent; the Sixteenth District (Harlem), 49 percent; and the Eighteenth District (South Bronx), 44 percent.

STATE: There are 61 seats in the state Senate, with members elected from single-member districts. There are 150 seats in the Assembly, with members elected from different single-member districts. All legislators serve terms of 2 years. The New York legislature convenes in Albany.

COUNTY: Five counties, called boroughs—Bronx, Kings (Brooklyn), New York (Manhattan), Queens, and Richmond (Staten Island)—are substantially consolidated into one governmental unit as the city of New York, which is classified as a municipality. There are 57 other counties and approximately 1,600 governing board members, who are usually called legislators or supervisors. Board members generally serve either 2- or 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 62 cities and 556 villages classified as municipalities. In addition, there are 932 townships. There are more than 7,000 municipal governing board members. The minimum population requirement for incorporation as a village is 500.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 3,435 judgeships. There are 7 court of appeals judges, 47 judges in the appellate divisions of the state supreme court, and 484 supreme court judges. Most judges are elected and their terms vary. Judges for the court of appeals and the New York City Criminal and Family courts are appointed. There are 57 elected sheriffs; 63 elected and appointed coroners serve 3-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 730 school districts of various types. Most are administratively and financially independent. Only 5 are classified as agencies of local governments. The total number of school board members in New York State is approximately 5,000; most are elected. New York State also has 41 Boards of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES), which were established to provide specialized educational services. The 369 BOCES board members are elected not by the public at large but by the component school boards, and are therefore not covered by the Roster.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 923 special districts.

NORTH CAROLINA

453 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of North Carolina is 6,333,000; the black population is 1,393,000, or 22 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,751,000; and the black voting age population is 998,000. The total number of registered voters is 3,041,000; the number of black registered voters is 579,000.

FEDERAL: North Carolina has 11 congressional districts. The Second District (Durham) has the largest percentage of black residents, 40 percent. It is followed by the First District (Cape Hatteras), which is 35 percent black. Other districts with substantial black populations are the Third District (Goldsboro) and the Seventh District (Fayetteville), both with 27 percent; the Ninth District (Charlotte), 23 percent; Sixth District (Greensboro), 21 percent; and Fourth and Eighth districts (Raleigh and Salisbury), 20 percent each.

STATE: The General Assembly has 50 seats in the Senate; members are elected from 35 districts. There are 120 seats in the House of Representatives; members are elected from 72 districts. All legislators serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Raleigh.

COUNTY: There are 100 counties in North Carolina and at least 300 county commissioners. Most commissioners are elected at large. Only 8 commissioners from 2 counties are elected by district. Most commissioners serve either 2- or 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are approximately 500 cities, towns, and villages classified as municipalities. Approximately 2,300 councilmembers serve on governing boards for 2- or 4-year terms as specified by municipal charter.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 700 judge-ships and over 200 courts in North Carolina. All judges are elected, except for magistrates and special judges of the superior court. The 7 supreme court justices, 12 court of appeals judges, and 74 superior court judges serve 8-year terms. Most constable, coroner, and marshal offices have been abolished. The 100 sheriffs serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 140 school districts, which are run by local governments. Of the 140, 100 are county districts, and 40 are city districts. The 58 community colleges in the state are administered separately by the North Carolina Board of Community Colleges. All county districts have elected boards of education. Of the city districts, half have appointed boards and half have elected boards. The state has 950 elected board members. Most school board elections are held every 4 years; terms are usually staggered.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 321 special districts, run by special boards, most of whose members are appointed. However, 452 board members are elected.

NORTH DAKOTA

0 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of North Dakota is 679,000; the black population is 3,000, or 0.4 percent of the total; total voting age population is 457,000; and the black voting age population is 2,000. The total number of registered voters is 429,000.

FEDERAL: The state of North Dakota has one congressional district. Blacks are less than 1 percent of the state's population.

STATE: The Legislative Assembly comprises 53 seats in the Senate and 106 seats in the House of Representatives. The 53 Senate seats represent single-member districts; the 106 House seats represent 53 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The Assembly convenes in Bismarck.

COUNTY: There are 53 counties and 221 county commissioners in North Dakota. Commissioners are elected by district to 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 365 municipal governments designated as cities. In addition there are 1,360 township governments. There is no minimum population requirement for incorporation. Approximately 5,770 elected officials serve on municipal boards. Most cities hold elections every 2 years, in even-numbered years, and townships hold elections annually.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: All 286 judgeship positions in North Dakota are filled by nonpartisan elections. The 5 supreme court judges serve 10 years; the 26 district court judges, 6 years; and all other judges, 4 years. There are 53 elected sheriffs.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 310 school districts and 310 public school boards. North Dakota school boards have a total of 1,562 members, all of whom are elected.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 692 special districts and 2,952 elected governing board members.

OHIO

209 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Ohio is 10,752,000; the black population is 1,075,000, or 10 percent of the total; total voting age population is 7,932,000; and the black voting age population is 714,000. The total number of registered voters is 5,473,000; the number of black registered voters is 493,000.

FEDERAL: Ohio has 21 congressional districts. The Twenty-first District includes Cleveland's East Side and has the largest percentage of black residents, 62 percent. The Third District (Dayton) has a black population of 18 percent. The First and Second districts (West Cincinnati and East Cincinnati, respectively) follow with black populations of 16 percent.

STATE: The Ohio General Assembly comprises 33 seats in the Senate and 99 seats in the House of Representatives. Members of both the Senate and the House are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Columbus.

COUNTY: There are 88 counties and 264 county commissioners in Ohio. They are elected at large and serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 942 municipalities in Ohio classified as cities and villages. There are 1,495 townships. The townships are governed by 4,485 members of boards of trustees. Municipalities are governed by 5,890 councilmembers and commissioners, who serve 2- to 4-year terms. Municipalities hold elections every 2 years, in odd-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 660 judgeship positions in 271 courts, excluding the mayor's court judges. There are 7 supreme court judges, 53 appeals court judges, and 330 judges in the courts of common pleas. With 2 exceptions, all judges are elected to office for terms of 6 years. County court judges serve 6 years. In the mayor's court, the mayor acts as a judge for the length of his term. All judicial elections are nonpartisan. A sheriff and a coroner are elected to 4-year terms in each of Ohio's 88 counties.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 615 school districts in the state. The 376 local school districts are part of 87 county school districts. All school districts have elected school boards. Most boards are comprised of 5 members elected to 4-year terms. A few city school districts have 7-member boards. School board elections are held in odd-numbered years and are staggered. In addition, there are 49 joint vocational school districts, whose board members are appointed. The state Board of Education consists of 21 members—one elected from each of the congressional districts; they serve staggered 6-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 377 special districts. Most board members are appointed; 488 are elected.

OKLAHOMA

116 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Oklahoma is 3,305,000; the black population is 231,000, or 7 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,305,000; and the black voting age population is 138,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,498,000; the number of black registered voters is 83,000.

FEDERAL: Oklahoma has 6 congressional districts. The two districts with the largest percentages of black residents are the Sixth District (Oklahoma City-Enid), which is 10 percent black, and the First District (Tulsa), which is 9 percent black.

STATE: The Oklahoma legislature members are elected from 48 single-member Senate districts and 101 single-member House districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Oklahoma City.

COUNTY: There are 77 counties and 231 county commissioners in Oklahoma. All are elected by district and serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: Oklahoma has 584 municipalities and 2,290 governing board members. Councilmembers and aldermen, who sit on city boards, serve 4-year terms. Trustees, who serve on town boards, are elected for 4-year terms.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: Oklahoma has 200 courts with 510 judgeship positions. The 9 supreme court judges and 5 judges of the court of criminal appeals are initially appointed by the governor and subsequently elected to 6-year terms. Twelve court of appeals and 199 district court judges are elected and serve 6- and 4-year terms, respectively. Municipal court judges are appointed by each mayor with consent of a municipal governing body. There are 77 elected sheriffs, who serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 613 school districts and about 2,800 board members. Most of the school districts are administratively and fiscally independent; 155 are agencies of local governments. Members of independent school boards serve 5-year terms. Members of school boards that are agencies of local governments serve 3-year terms. Elections are held each year, in January and April.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 916 special districts and 1,631 governing board members.

OREGON

11 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Oregon is 2,698,000; the black population is 27,000, or 1 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,027,000; and the black voting age population is 24,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,439,000.

FEDERAL: Oregon has 5 congressional districts. The Third District (East Portland) is 6 percent black.

STATE: The Legislative Assembly comprises 30 seats in the Senate and 60 seats in the House; all members of the Legislative Assembly are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The Assembly convenes in Salem.

COUNTY: Oregon has 36 counties; 7 are home-rule counties, which have adopted specific charters regarding the administrative structure of their governments; the other 29 are statutory counties, which operate under state statutes. There are 116 county board members, who serve for 4 years. In home-rule counties, board members may be elected at large or by district. In statutory counties, they are elected at large.

MUNICIPAL: There are 242 cities and towns in Oregon. Municipal elections are held during the Primary and General Elections, in even-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 390 judgeship positions and 295 courts in Oregon. There are 7 supreme court judges, 10 appeals court judges, 85 circuit court judges, and one tax court judge. All judges serve 6-year terms. With the exception of justices of the peace and a few municipal court judges, all judges are elected on a nonpartisan ballot. The district court has 58 judges, and the municipal court, 191. In addition, there are 40 justices of the peace. The 36 elected sheriffs serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: Oregon's 305 school districts are independent administratively and fiscally. There are 29 education service districts and 15 community college districts. There are 1,952 elected school board members; they serve 4-year terms. Elections are held each March.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 1,108 special districts and authorities.

PENNSYLVANIA

142 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Pennsylvania is 11,888,000; the black population is 1,070,000, or 9 percent of the total; total voting age population is 9,042,000; and the black voting age population is 723,000. The total number of registered voters is 5,606,000; the number of black registered voters is 492,000.

FEDERAL: Pennsylvania has 23 congressional districts. Two districts, each located in the city of Philadelphia, have substantial black populations. They are the First District, 32 percent; and the Second District, 80 percent. The Fourteenth District (Pittsburgh) also has a substantial black population, 22 percent.

STATE: The Pennsylvania General Assembly comprises 50 seats in the Senate and 203 seats in the House of Representatives; all members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Harrisburg.

COUNTY: The 66 counties and 1 city-county are governed by 219 county commissioners, who are elected for 4-year terms. In 62 counties, the governing bodies are elected at large and members serve on 3-member county commissions. The counties of Erie, Lehigh, Northampton, Delaware, and Lackawanna have home rule and a county council. The city-county of Philadelphia is counted as a municipality.

MUNICIPAL: There are 2,573 municipalities in Pennsylvania, including 53 cities, 968 boroughs, and 1,552 townships. Approximately 12,148 municipal board members are elected and serve 4- or 6-year terms. Municipalities may adopt home-rule charters that allow them to determine the structure of their own government and what services it will perform. Elections are held in November of odd-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 923 judgeship positions and 368 courts in Pennsylvania. Most judges, including the 7 on the supreme court, 15 on the superior court, 9 on the commonwealth court, and 330 on the court of common pleas, are elected in partisan elections to serve 10-year terms. District court, municipal court, and Philadelphia traffic court judges serve 6 years. There are 66 sheriffs and 65 coroners, all elected to 4-year terms; 3,500 constables are elected, serving 6-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 501 school districts. With the exception of Philadelphia, all of these districts have elected boards, each of which has 9 members. The board of Philadelphia is appointed. Elections are held every 2 years, during the November municipal election.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: The 2,050 special districts or authorities are governed by appointed board members.

SOUTH CAROLINA

396 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of South Carolina is 3,377,000; the black population is 1,013,000, or 30 percent of the total; total voting age population is 2,472,000; and the black voting age population is 643,000. The total number of registered voters is 1,483,000; the number of black registered voters is 367,000.

FEDERAL: South Carolina has 6 congressional districts. Each has a substantial black population. The district with the largest percentage of black residents is the Sixth District (Florence), which is 41 percent black. Three other districts are at least 32 percent black: the First District (Charleston), 32 percent; the Second District (Columbia), 35 percent; and the Fifth District (Rock Hill), 32 percent.

STATE: South Carolina's General Assembly has 46 seats in the Senate, whose members are elected from single-member districts. The House has 124 members, who represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Columbia.

COUNTY: There are 46 counties and 316 county councilmembers, who serve 2- or 4-year terms. The number of members on each board ranges from 3 to 12.

MUNICIPAL: There are 265 cities and towns classified as municipalities and about 1,300 board members, who serve for 4 years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 790 judgeship positions and 665 courts in South Carolina. Five supreme court judges and 31 circuit court judges serve 10 and 6 years, respectively. Supreme, circuit, and six appeals court judges are elected by the legislature. City court judges and magistrates are appointed by the governor. Family court judges are elected by the General Assembly. Probate judges are elected on a partisan ballot. There are 46 elected sheriffs and 46 elected coroners.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 92 school districts, and organizational patterns vary greatly, yet all districts are considered subdivisions of the state. Twenty-nine are countywide districts. Seventy-five districts have elected school boards, 13 have appointed school boards, and four have combined elected-appointed school boards. There are approximately 677 school board members in the state.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 242 special districts served by 343 elected board members.

SOUTH DAKOTA

3 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of South Dakota is 708,000; the black population is 2,000, or 0.3 percent of the total. The total voting age population is 500,000; and the total number of registered voters is 400,000.

FEDERAL: South Dakota has 1 congressional district. Blacks constitute less than 1 percent of the population.

STATE: The legislature comprises 35 seats in the Senate and 70 seats in the House of Representatives; members of the Senate and the House are elected from 35 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Pierre.

COUNTY: There are 66 county governments; 14 elect commissioners at large and 52 elect commissioners by district. The 304 county commissioners are elected to 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 310 municipalities, governed by 1,555 board members. In most municipalities, elections are held annually.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: The state Judicial Department was reorganized in 1975 when district, county, municipal, justice-of-the-peace, and police magistrate courts were abolished. There is now one supreme court with 5 judges, and 8 circuit court systems. Circuit courts have 35 judges, who are elected to 8-year terms. A magistrate division of the circuit courts was established and there are 94 magistrates, who are appointed. Each county elects a sheriff and a coroner for 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 191 school districts and approximately 1,100 elected board members. School board members serve 3-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 199 special districts and authorities; they are served by 681 elected board members.

TENNESSEE

149 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Tennessee is 4,803,000; the black population is 768,000, or 16 percent of the total; total voting age population is 3,613,000; and the black voting age population is 542,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,348,000; the number of black registered voters is 401,000.

FEDERAL: Tennessee has 9 congressional districts. The Ninth District (Memphis) is 57 percent black. Other districts with substantial black populations are the Third District (Chattanooga), which is 12 percent black; the Fifth District (Nashville), which is 22 percent black; the Seventh District (Shelby County East), which is 12 percent black; and the Eighth District (Shelby County North), which is 20 percent black.

STATE: The General Assembly, which convenes in Nashville, comprises 33 seats in the Senate and 99 seats in the House of Representatives. All members are elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 95 counties. In most counties, the governing body is the board of county commissioners. All board members are elected by district following a 1974 U.S. Supreme Court decision. There are about 1,705 county governing board members, who serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 336 municipalities and approximately 1,600 elected governing board members, who serve 2- and 4-year terms. The minimum population requirement for incorporation is 200. The consolidated Nashville-Davidson County Metropolitan Government is also counted as a municipality. Elections are usually held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 148 trial and appellate court judges in Tennessee. Most judges serve 8-year terms. There are 5 supreme court judges, 12 appeals court judges, 9 criminal appeals court judges, and 33 chancery court judges. On the circuit court, there are 66 judges with civil jurisdiction and 26 judges with criminal jurisdiction. There are 95 elected sheriffs and 1 constable per district. They serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 141 school districts in Tennessee. All are independent administratively and fiscally. There are approximately 954 elected school board members.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 469 special districts and authorities. Most board members are appointed; however, 570 members are elected.

TEXAS

305 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Texas is 16,685,000; the black population is 2,002,000, or 12 percent of the total; total voting age population is 11,477,000; and the black voting age population is 1,262,000. The total number of registered voters is 7,575,000; the number of black registered voters is 934,000.

FEDERAL: Texas has 27 congressional districts. The district with the largest percentage of black residents is the Eighteenth District, which is 41 percent black and includes the city of Houston. Two other districts with substantial black populations are the Twenty-fourth District (Dallas-South), 32 percent, and the Twenty-fifth District (Houston-South), 25 percent.

STATE: The Texas legislature has 31 seats in the Senate; members are elected from single-member districts. The House of Representatives has 150 members, all elected from single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives, 2-year terms. The legislature convenes in Austin.

COUNTY: There are 254 counties, each governed by a county board called a commissioner's court. Each county elects 5 members—4 district members and 1 at-large member. All members serve 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: There are 1,150 incorporated cities, villages, and towns. The minimum population required to incorporate is 201. Most municipal elections are held annually.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are more than 2,900 judgeship positions in Texas. There are 9 supreme court judges, 9 court of criminal appeals judges, 80 court of civil appeals judges, and 347 district court judges. All judges are elected, with the exception of some members of the municipal courts, who are appointed by the municipal governing body. The terms of municipal court judges vary in length from one year to an indefinite period; terms of other court judges are specifically for 4 or 6 years. There are 254 elected sheriffs and approximately 750 constables in Texas. All serve 4-year terms. In some cases, one marshal is elected for each municipality.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 1,091 school districts in Texas, including 47 college districts, which are administratively and financially independent. Approximately 7,500 persons serve on the school boards. All are elected, and 90 percent serve 3-year terms. Others serve for 6 years. Most school board elections are held each April.

UTAH

1 Black Elected Official

POPULATION: The total population of Utah is 1,665,000; the black population is 10,000, or 0.6 percent of the total; total voting age population is 1,047,000; and the black voting age population is 6,000. The total number of registered voters is 796,000.

FEDERAL: Utah has 3 congressional districts. The black population of each district is 1 percent or less.

STATE: The Utah legislature, which convenes in Salt Lake City, comprises 29 seats in the Senate and 75 seats in the House of Representatives. All legislators represent single-member districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 29 counties in Utah. Counties are grouped into 6 categories based on their assessed valuations. First-class counties, which have the highest valuation, are assessed at $150 million or more. In contrast, sixth-class counties are valued at less than $5 million. There are 87 county commissioners, most of whom are elected at large. They serve 2- or 4-year terms.

MUNICIPAL: Utah's 226 municipalities are governed by 1,253 board members, who serve for 4 years. Municipalities are classified by population size. First-class cities have at least 100,000 residents. Second-class cities have 60,000 to 99,999 residents. Third-class cities have populations of 800 to 59,999. The minimum requirement for municipal incorporation is 100 people. Municipal elections are usually held every 2 years, in odd-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are about 125 judgeship positions and 120 courts in Utah. Along with circuit court judges, 5 supreme, 7 appeals, and 29 district court judges are initially appointed by the governor. Supreme court judges serve for 10 years; district and circuit court judges serve for 6 years. Justice court judges serve for 4 years and are elected in each precinct, except in towns, where justices of the peace are appointed. There are 29 elected sheriffs in Utah. All serve 4-year terms. Utah has no elected coroners.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 40 school districts, 1 in each county and 1 in first- and second-class cities. In addition, some populous counties have more than 1 school district. County and city districts have elected boards. There are about 200 board members. All serve 4-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 211 special districts, governed by 426 elected board members.

VERMONT

2 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Vermont is 541,000; the black population is 1,000, or 0.2 percent of the total; total voting age population is 410,000; the total number of registered voters is 320,000. Both the black voting age population and the number of black registered voters are less than 1,000.

FEDERAL: The state of Vermont constitutes one congressional district. The black population is less than 1 percent.

STATE: The General Assembly, which convenes in Montpelier, has 30 seats in the Senate and members are elected from 13 districts. There are 150 seats in the House of Representatives and members are elected from 106 districts. Senators and representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 14 counties in Vermont and 28 assistant judges, who serve as the principal county administrators. Counties perform limited functions, chiefly maintaining the courthouse and county jail. Each county elects 2 governing body members.

MUNICIPAL: Vermont has 296 municipalities—246 cities and towns and approximately 50 villages—which are governed by 1,160 board members. Most municipal board members serve 1- or 3-year terms. Elections are held annually.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 76 judgeship positions and 50 courts in Vermont. Five supreme, 10 superior, and 15 district court judges are appointed by the governor. These judges serve 6-year terms. Probate court judges and assistant judges of the superior court are elected and serve 4-year terms. Fourteen sheriffs, one per county, are elected and serve for 4 years. Each town elects 1 or 2 constables, who serve for 1 year.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 276 school districts; all are administratively and fiscally independent. Approximately 1,300 school board members serve on elected boards. Their terms range from 1 to 3 years. Elections are held each March.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: Vermont has 83 special districts governed by about 240 elected board members.

VIRGINIA

149 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of Virginia is 5,787,000; the black population is 1,100,000, or 19 percent of the total; total voting age population is 4,318,000; and the black voting age population is 777,000. The total number of registered voters is 2,893,000; the number of black registered voters is 497,000.

FEDERAL: Virginia has 10 congressional districts. The Fourth District (Portsmouth) has the largest percentage of black residents, 40 percent. Other districts with substantial black populations are the First District (Newport News), 31 percent; the Second District (Norfolk), 21 percent; the Third District (Richmond), 28 percent; and the Fifth District (Danville), 25 percent.

STATE: The General Assembly has 40 seats in the Senate, whose members are elected from 40 districts. There are 100 seats in the House of Delegates, whose members are elected from 100 districts. Senators serve 4-year terms; delegates serve 2-year terms. The General Assembly convenes in Richmond.

COUNTY: Virginia has 95 counties with 511 county board members. Most board members are elected by district to serve 4-year terms. Three counties elect members at large.

MUNICIPAL: There are 229 municipalities, including 41 cities that lie outside county boundaries and perform city as well as county functions. Towns incorporated after July 1, 1971, must meet the minimum population requirement of 1,000. Cities must have more than 5,000 residents. There are 1,360 municipal governing board members, who serve 4-year terms. Elections are usually held every 2 years, in even-numbered years.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: All judges are elected by the General Assembly. Seven supreme court justices serve 12-year terms, 10 court of appeals judges serve 8-year terms, 122 circuit court judges serve 8-year terms, and 172 district court judges serve 6-year terms. There are 128 elected sheriffs. There is often one elected and one appointed sergeant per town.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 139 school divisions, including 94 county school districts and 45 city school districts. City and county school systems, administered by appointed boards, are regarded as agencies of the city and county governments. There are approximately 913 school board members.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 83 special districts; 228 of the 505 board members are elected.

UNITED STATES VIRGIN ISLANDS

35 Black Elected Officials

POPULATION: The total population of the Virgin Islands is 107,500; the black population is 76,951, or 80 percent of the total; total voting age population is 54,773; and the black voting age population is 40,760. There are 30,065 registered voters.

FEDERAL: The U.S. Virgin Islands, which includes St. Thomas, St. John, and St. Croix, are a territory of the United States. In 1917, the islands were purchased by the United States from the Danish government for defense purposes. Virgin Islanders, who are U.S. citizens, are represented in the U.S. House of Representatives by one nonvoting delegate. The Virgin Islands constitutes one congressional district. The U.S. Department of the Interior appoints a U.S. comptroller for the islands.

TERRITORIAL: The legislature of the Virgin Islands is unicameral. It comprises 14 senators who are elected from the 3 islands and one senator elected at large. All legislators serve for 2 years. The governor and lieutenant governor serve 4-year terms. The governor appoints an administrator for each island.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 2 court systems in the Virgin Islands, the federal court system and the local territorial court system. The U.S. District Court, located in St. Croix and St. Thomas, has 2 judges and 2 magistrates who are appointed by the president of the United States. The territorial court, which has a court in St. Croix, St. Thomas, and St. John, has 8 judges, all of whom are appointed by the governor with approval from the Senate. Territorial judges serve for 6 years or until a successor is designated.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: The Virgin Islands has 2 school districts, which are agencies of municipal governments, 34 public schools, and a 9-member Board of Education, which is elected on a non-partisan basis. The board is an agency of the territorial government. School board members are elected every 2 years, during the general election of senators.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are airport, harbor, water, and power authorities. Board members for the authorities are appointed by the governor.

FEDERAL: The state of Wyoming comprises one congressional district. Blacks constitute 1 percent of the state's population.

STATE: The legislature, which convenes in Cheyenne, has 30 seats in the Senate, and members are elected from 18 districts. There are 64 seats in the House of Representatives, and members are elected from 23 counties. Senators serve 4-year terms; representatives serve 2-year terms.

COUNTY: There are 23 counties and 73 commissioners elected at large for 4-year terms. Most counties elect 3 commissioners, the exceptions being Fremont, Campbell, and Weston counties, which elect 5 commissioners each.

MUNICIPAL: There are 96 cities and towns and 418 municipal governing board members, who serve 4-year terms. A minimum population of 500 is required for municipal incorporation. The frequency of elections varies among municipalities.

JUDICIAL AND LAW ENFORCEMENT: There are 132 judgeship positions in Wyoming. The 5 supreme and 17 district court judges are appointed by the governor and then they stand for retention after serving 1 year. If elected, supreme court judges serve for 8 years, and district court judges, for 6 years. Justice-of-the-peace court judges serve 4-year terms and may be elected or appointed. Municipal court judges are appointed by the mayor with the consent of the city or town governing body. There are 23 elected sheriffs and coroners (1 per county), who serve 4-year terms.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS: There are 49 school districts and 7 community college districts. All 386 Wyoming school board members are elected and serve 4-year terms.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS: There are 225 special districts and authorities; 946 of the 995 board members are elected.
